Towong Shire Council has released its Municipal Recovery Plan 2019-2020 - Upper Murray Bushfires which is designed to create a co-ordinated and well managed recovery with the wellbeing of the community at its core.

"While the disaster is a tragic event and impacts the whole community, it presents an opportunity for strengthening and renewal," said Towong mayor, Cr David Wortmann.

The plan was reviewed in detail in partnership with the Upper Murray Community Recovery Committee including a review of local recovery plans, a community survey and a series of meetings and workshops.

The development of the plan was guided by Part 4 of the Emergency Management Manual Victoria, the Natural Principles for Disaster Recovery, the Eastern Victorian Fires 2019-20 State Recovery Plan and the Bushfire Recovery Victoria Recovery Framework.

Report: Border is not relevant

“Alignment of these frameworks ensures a consistent approach to recovery and the clear targeting of funding opportunities and support offered by all levels of government,” Cr Wortmann said.

The final plan

emphasises that the recovery process will take many years as each individual, family, community group, town and business has been impacted and affected differently and will be on their own journey to recovery.

“Individuals, businesses and communities across the municipality and particularly in the Upper Murray region, have experienced devastating losses and need to rebuild their lives and communities,” Cr Wortmann said.

“For many, it is still a long road ahead but we know our communities are strong and resilient. It is what has defined us and continues to sustain the small townships, villages and communities of the Upper Murray.”

The final plan also highlighted the cross-border impacts that the bushfires and the coronavirus pandemic have had on the Upper Murray community.

It states:-

“All the communities of the Upper Murray region including the NSW towns of Tooma, Khancoban, Jingellic, Ournie and surrounds operate functionally as one.

“The border is not relevant to day-to-day life in these townships. Indeed, the sustainability of recovery for the Upper Murray communities is dependent upon an integrated and cohesive approach to renewal and rebuilding.

“This cross-border environment makes dealing with state governments more complex, however a number of Community Recovery Committees and working groups have cross-border representation.

“The pandemic has added a further level of complexity to community recovery.

Border crossings need to remain open during times of disaster.

“The travel restrictions imposed by the NSW government have not only created challenges to cross-border commerce, education and commuting but also limit Victorian-based Upper Murray community’s ability to extend support to the friends, families and residents who were equally impacted by the fires on the NSW side of the border and to collectively plan their future.

“These impacts have meant a further loss of income to the tourism and hospitality sectors, compounding mental health issues and some restrictions or delivery modifications of service delivery from supporting agencies and the private sector.”

Cr Wortmann said that “Out of this disaster, opportunities are emerging. We know that when communities lead their own recovery and own the priorities and plans for their future, the success is greater and the outcomes achieved are more sustainable.

Cr Wortmann also thanked the community members who provided feedback on the recovery plan.

The final plan is now available to view online at towong.vic.gov.au/municipal-recovery-plan and hard copies are available at the Upper Murray Community Recovery Hub or the Corryong or Tallangatta Council Offices and Libraries.

Parliament closure leads to lack of scrutiny

Liberal Democrats Member for Northern Victoria, Tim Quilty, has protested against the Victorian government's closing down of Parliament.

"The government used health directions as a reason to close down the current sitting and prevent the asking of questions from MPs concerned about the damaging effects of lockdown," Mr Quilty said in a speech to Parliament.

"They are attempting to evade accountability and transparency."

However, the government shut Mr Quilty down before he could finish his speech, so he took to social media to share a video of it made from his office in Parliament House.

Mr Quilty said the government is withholding vital information which would justify or condemn lockdowns.

"This government has hidden human rights assessments from the public," Mr Quilty said.

"You've hidden information you claim exists to support these lockdowns decisions."

"You have hidden the advice used to justify the closure of the Parliament, instead just sending us a short letter saying we should not meet, from an unknown bureaucrat, acting in a role as head of a committee nobody has ever heard of."

The government, Mr Quilty pointed out, is losing the good faith of the public due to its handling of the pandemic.

"This government has abused the public trust for months and any goodwill we had towards them regarding the management of the pandemic has dried up long ago," Mr Quilty said.

"I'm not surprised that people are fed up. They're sick of living under authoritarian rules."

"The closure of Parliament while the government is exercising emergency powers is just another contradiction to add to the list. Let us do our jobs and apply scrutiny to the government over the lockdown."

His frustration and anger over the latest Melbourne lockdown led to Mr Quilty and his colleague, David Limbrick, protesting on the steps of the building where he was supposed to be questioning the Victorian government.

The two MPs are particularly angry over the closure of playgrounds and parks during Melbourne's ongoing lockdown.

"It is utterly disgusting that children are now the targets of this government's iron grip on Victoria," Mr Quilty said.

"David and I were supposed to be inside Parliament right now putting questions to the government about how it is trampling the freedoms of children who, right now, are cooped up inside all day with nowhere to vent their excess energy."

"David and I are both dads, we know what it's like to have a young child stuck indoors all day, so this protest was the only way we can think of to keep fighting for Victorians."

Sacred Heart kids 'go crazy' to raise funds.

Have fun and raise funds with flashy socks

If you want to become a better reader, then you need to pull up your socks, right?

The students at Sacred Heart School are pulling up their socks next Wednesday and they would love you to join them for some fun with a real purpose.

Pull Up Your Crazy Socks Day is a fundraiser to help the school's Parents and Friends Association (P&F) purchase decodable readers to build the children's phonemic awareness, which is the ability to hear and manipulate sounds and understand how sounds form sequences.

Pull Up Your Crazy

Socks Day is going to be heaps of fun and the whole community is invited to join in.

P&F president, Charlie O'Connor, said they would love to see as many people as possible supporting the kids' efforts by wearing your craziest pair of socks on Wednesday, August 25.

"This is a chance for our community to have a bit of fun amid what is a very challenging time," Charlie said.

"We would love to challenge you all to find your craziest pair of socks, wear them wherever you are - at work, at school or down the street - so that everyone can see.

"If you don't have any crazy socks, don't worry, we've got your back."

Multiple businesses around Corryong are selling Crazy Socks for $6 a pair or buy a box of 14 pairs for $84 by contacting the school on 6076 1138.

Get yours today from The Greengrocer, Corryong Newsagency, WAW Credit Union, Costello Rural, Corryong Footwear, Tess & Lil, Clinic of Natural Beauty or Transform Physiotherapy at Jardine Hub.

So, turn your trousers up a little, 'pull up your crazy socks' and help the children at Sacred Heart develop skills for life by becoming better readers.

River pubs have tales to tell

Since time immemorial, rivers have been the arteries of Australia's red heart and the river defined not just the landscape but also the people.

In a follow-up to his bestselling Pub Yarns, author and photographer, Colin Whelan, takes his motorbike the entire length of 'Old Man Murray', visiting each of its more than 50 hotels, gathering the history and stories of the pubs and the tales of the characters who frequent and sometimes haunt them.

The Drinking in the Rivers stories are a testament to the core values of the bush and to the continuing role pubs have in their communities. The truths of these pubs are inevitably intertwined with the river and with their yesterdays.

Savouring the pubs, enjoying them and soaking them in necessarily involves swimming deeply in their histories and refreshing in their waters. These are their stories, the unforgettable characters of Australia and its waterways.

Pull up a stool and join Colin Whelan as he recounts the myths, legends, true stories and tall tales of the pubs and people, both past and present, of Australia's greatest river.

Chapter 2 of Drinking in the Rivers - titled 'More myths of men, hotels, dogs and horses' - is about the Upper Murray and features the history and characters of the Courthouse Hotel in Corryong.

Colin Whelan first bonded with Australia's outback when, aged just 13 and to settle a bet, he hitchhiked from Sydney to Perth and return in eleven days.

Five years later he learnt the nuances of pub culture from Frank Hardy and Jim Buckley at Jim's Newcastle Hotel in Sydney's Rocks. These two strands and his fascination with the 'immediate honest intimacy of the road' developed into a love of country pubs and their people.

Drinking in the Rivers is the first in a planned trilogy of the pubs along the riparian arteries of Australia.

Drinking in the Rivers, Vol 1 by Colin Whelan, New Holland Publishers, RRP $49.99 available from all good book retailers or online www.newhollandpublishers.com.

Councillor contribution remembered

Snowy Valleys councillors have paid tribute to the late Russell Stevenson who passed away recently, aged 98.

"On behalf of Snowy Valleys Council, we'd like to acknowledge Mr Stevenson's enduring legacy to the Tumbarumba region and community and extend our sincere sympathies and deepest condolences to his family," said Mayor James Hayes.

Mr Stevenson started in Tumbarumba working for council and records show he later became a councillor, serving as Tumbarumba Shire President in 1970-71 and as a Tumbarumba Shire Councillor in 1974 and 1978.

He was also the inaugural president of the Tumbarumba Rotary Club 60 years ago and participated in projects over many years.

"Russ was a great friend and confidant to me and a terrific community leader," said Cr Bruce Wright.

He was with me and the Rotary Club of Tumbarumba on a trip to Mainohana High School in Papua-New Guinea to build a school home economics block. He also went on a Rotary Friendship Exchange to India. He was a very enthusiastic member of both groups."

Cr Julia Ham remembers Mr Stevenson as a polite gentleman.

"Russell's legacy continues with the shop he started 'Russell Stevenson's Clothing Store'," she said.

"He ran it with great pride, providing quality and fashionable clothes to the people of Tumbarumba and Tumut."

Juniors hit the track

Following the abandonment of the senior football and netball season by the Upper Murray league, clubs have banded together to provide a competition for the junior ranks.

The first junior competition on Saturday at Corryong was a success with the sunshine and Corryong College's coffee cart adding to the atmosphere.

There were four teams for 11 & Under netball - Bullioh, Federal, Cudgewa, and Corryong. They played three matches of 20 minutes each.

In 15 & Under netball there were enough girls for three teams - Cudgewa, Federal and a mixed team of Corryong and Bullioh - and they played two games each.

Under 14s football was divided into age and ability making for a competitive hour-long match. In Under 11s football, composite sides Corryong/Cudgewa played Federal/Bullioh.

"It was heartwarming to see so many children enjoying themselves," said league operations manager, Nadia Edwards.

The competition will continue this Saturday August 21, subject to current pandemic restrictions.

Alterations to game start times have been made as follows:-

- 11 & Under netball - 9:45am .
- Under 14s football - 10am
- Under 11s football - 11:15am

• 15 & Under netball - 11:30am

Clubs should also check the league's Facebook page or ask their league delegates for further information.

Council opens for business remotely

Snowy Valleys Council (SVC) has closed its doors to the public in response to the NSW government's Covid Health Orders and is asking people to interact with council services via phone, email or online.

SVC CEO, Matthew Hyde, said that staff are still available to provide customer service and to assist with customer requests just not face-to-face.

"We are working hard behind the scenes to keep delivering our services in alternative ways while adhering to the rules," he said.

Responding to the lockdown rules, council has initiated working from home policies and procedures for office staff and additional distancing and hygiene guidelines and tools for outdoor teams.

"Most of our outdoor staff are continuing with their normal duties and implementing social distancing and mask wearing in regard to work proximity, travelling and shared areas wherever possible," Mr Hyde said.

"Management plans have also been put in place to allow staff working in essential services to continue their work with risk mitigation strategies.

"Council's child care services are still operating and accepting children from the NSW government's authorised workers list and the Tumbarumba MSO is taking appointments via phone.

"Both the Tumut District Community Transport and Tumbarumba Community Transport are still operating for medical appointments and essential food shopping. All bookings should be made by phone."

Council's waste transfer stations and kerbside collections are continuing operations as normal, while libraries across the region have been closed and members are being encouraged to use the online book borrowing system.

Council can be contacted during business hours via phone on 300 ASK SVC (1300 275 782) or email info@svc.nsw.

Upper Murray Sport

Trio ready for flag raid

Three local footballers will have their fingers crossed this week that lockdown rules will not prevent the grand final of the AFL North East Border Female Football League going ahead this Sunday.

Megan Nankervis, Kristy Whitehead and Sallie Findlay will suit up for the premiership decider for the Wodonga Raiders team, which was undefeated throughout the home and away season.

The side suffered a shock 10-point loss to the Lavington Panthers in the 2nd semi final when the three Upper Murray girls were named among the Raiders' best but they get the chance to win a flag after routing Wangaratta Rovers by 62 points in the preliminary final, with Megan Nankervis starring in defence.

The game is scheduled for 1.15pm on Sunday but a venue has yet to be decided.

In other sports news, it appears that Cudgewa has been unsuccessful in getting the Upper Murray league to reconsider its decision to abandon the remainder of the 2021 season.

Cudgewa was the hardest hit by the league's decision as the Blues were undefeated at senior football level and also had their reserves sitting on top of the ladder, while three of the five netball teams were also leading A, B and Under 15 grades.

The league had written to the other four clubs which have advised they will be abiding by the original decision which was unanimous.

It is uncertain whether the league will hold an awards and presentation function for 2021.

Vaccinate cattle against Pinkeye now!

Pinkeye is a very contagious, painful and complex condition found in cattle. With a season of good rain and pasture growth, we are looking at a bumper fly season therefore Pinkeye will be a great concern for many producers in the Upper Murray districts.

The effects of pinkeye:

- Extreme pain and distress to the animal
- Decline in appetite and overall production
- Significant treatment costs and antibiotic usage
- Weight loss or a reduction in daily weight gains
- Stress and labour costs for farm owners/managers
- Cattle rejected (eg. Feedlots, saleyards & export)

Coopers® Piliguard is the only registered Pinkeye vaccine available. Pinkeye season is fast approaching - prevention is better than cure.
