Bridge works remain on track

Despite some minor setbacks, construction of the new Towong Bridge over the Murray River is on schedule for completion in mid-2023.

The $10 million project involves the removal of the old crossing which took place in June and replacing it with a safer, smoother bridge for the local cross-border community.

The new bridge will be twice the width of the previous one and includes a footway.

Transport NSW Project Manager, Peter Dawson, said the project is progressing after some early challenges around cold, wet weather and high river levels.

A temporary construction platform was put in place early in the project to allow a large 80-ton pinjib crane to operate across the river.

"As of late November, there have been 12 piles placed and these have been topped off by concrete headstocks," Mr Dawson said.

"The aim by Christmas is to have the fourth headstock completed and ready for the pre-stressed girders to be placed in January and February.

"This is a significant milestone in the project as the structure will start to look like a bridge."

Another important milestone before Christmas 2022 is the completion of a retaining wall to reinstate the river bank which has been scoured and slipped due to decades of flooding.

This will allow the construction of the abutment on the Victorian side.

Towong Road (NSW) and Towong Hill Road (Victoria) are closed for the duration of the construction. There is access for emergency vehicles.

Detours are in place via Bringenbrong Bridge or Tintalra Bridge.

Three of the four headstocks have been installed on the new bridge.

Memorial commemorates the human spirit

Major Mark Robinson and Ray Waters plant the Lone Pine.

One of the casualties of the 2019-20 Black Summer bushfires which raged through the Upper Murray was the Avenue of Honour pine trees at Tintalra which were planted by school children, in honour of men who had attended the local school and joined up to fight in World War I.

Inspired community members and the Tintalra Recovery Committee, Corryong RSL, Towong Council, Border Trust and the Victorian government subsequently collaborated to replace the memorial with a thoroughfare of maple trees, signage and storyboards adjacent to the township's hotel.

Around 60 people and members of the Australian Defence Forces (ADF) attended the official launch last Friday.

The keynote address was given by Major Mark Robinson who emphasised the connection between those men and women of the Upper Murray who served through various conflicts from World War I, through World War II, the Korea and Vietnam Wars and peacekeeping operations in Rwanda and East Timor and more recently Iraq and Afghanistan.

"Looking at the history of the Avenue of Honour, it is hard not to draw comparisons to key events in Australia's history," he said.

"Forged from war, destroyed through fires and finally ravaged by disease, it is almost uncanny how it parallels Australia's recent history. And equally from all those trials, adversity and loss, time and again Australians find a way to pull together and show solidarity and compassion.

"They have been able to regrow and show renewed strength and reformed bonds.

"With the opening of the Avenue of Honour, I believe we can look back and reflect on the past, whilst having optimism for the future."

The symbol of Australia's Gallipoli campaign, a Lone Pine grown from a seed from the original tree, was planted at the head of the Avenue of Honour by Major Robinson and Corryong RSL representative, Ray Waters OAM.

The opening ceremony also included an address by Marilyn Clydsdale about the involvement of the Vogel family in WWI; the reading of the The Ode by Steffanie Zagon, a descendant of WWI Light Horseman Ivan Jarvis; and laying of wreaths by Major Robinson and Corryong RSL representative, Greg Nankervis.

Some restrictions still apply

Christmas is fast approaching so anyone planning to take a family member out over the holiday period must let staff know via the Acute mobile phone number 0427 669 338.

New restrictions also apply to staff.

For those working in the acute and residential areas, N95 masks and goggles are required to be worn. Gowns are to be used as per standard precautions only.

Staff working in all other areas of the agency are required to wear N95 masks.

Zoning is no longer essential and daily, precautionary asymptomatic Covid-19 RAT testing is to continue until further notice.

New hall to be officially opened

A year after the first sod was turned, community members and dignitaries will celebrate the opening of the new Ournie Community Hall this Saturday, December 10th.

Snowy Valleys Council (SVC) mayor, Cr Ian Chaffey, will join Justin Clancy MP to officially open the hall at 9:30am with the unveiling of a plaque and cake cutting.

The state-of-the-art community hall features amenities, kitchen, open community space, storage room and a wood fireplace.

The new community building replaces the former 100-year-old school building destroyed in the 2019-20 Dunns Road bushfire and is located at the Ournie Recreation Reserve, immediately adjacent to the Ournie Fire Shed.

Devastated by the loss of their beloved gathering place, the people of Ournie rallied together to rebuild with a vision of a hall that everyone in the community could use for many years to come.

The Upper Murray community is invited to the opening and to enjoy a morning tea provided by the Ournie Hall Committee members.

Funding of $740,000 was received under the Bushfire Local Economic Recovery Fund, co-funded by the Australian and NSW governments.

The Ournie Rural Fire Brigade received $200,000 from Club Grants Category 3 Infrastructure, funded by the NSW Government and Snowy Valleys Council contributed $120,000 from insurance allocations.

Victoria, you know fire.

Our regions have been hit hard with extreme wet weather over the past few months. But Victorians know how quickly the conditions can change. Increased rainfall causes vegetation to grow, so there's more fuel on the ground. It's important Victorians plan and prepare this fire season.

Corruption commission comes to fruition

The National Anti-Corruption Commission (NACC) has been legislated by the Federal Parliament and will be established in the new year.

Federal Member for Indi, Helen Haines, has been a staunch proponent of the legislation and marked the occasion in Parliament as a significant victory for integrity and transparency in politics.

"This day has been a long time coming," Dr Haines said.

"It is a moment of national significance and this legislation is a huge step in restoring trust and integrity to politics.

"This victory is for the people of Indi who have voted for action on corruption. This is for every person who has stopped me on the street and said 'don't give up on integrity, Helen'."

Dr Haines paid tribute to the former Member for Indi, Cathy McGowan, and other advocates who have worked hard over many years for an integrity watchdog.

"I'm very proud to be an Independent member of this Parliament and a member of the crossbench that has moved this issue from the sidelines to the mainstream and now to legislation," she added.

The Bill was amended in the Senate to add further safeguards, strengthening the power of the Inspector which oversees the NACC.

"The legislation is based largely on my model and I am proud to have played a significant role in its development through the government's consultation process and as Deputy Chair of the committee which scrutinised the Bills," Dr Haines said.

"However, I am disappointed that my amendments which would have removed the exceptional circumstances clause for public hearings and further strengthened the independence and powers of the NACC, were not agreed to by the major parties but overall, this is good legislation and I wish the future NACC every success."

Graduating class faced unprecedented challenges

Traditionally, at the start of each school year, the Year 12 class at Corryong College treks to the top of Mt Kosciuszko as a team building exercise to foster resilience.

"Year 12, like life, can be like climbing a tall mountain," VCAL co-ordinator, Sarah Harris, told the students and parents at the recent graduation function.

"We thought maybe bushfires, two years of remote learning, Covid lockdowns and tragic losses was perhaps enough resilience building for one group," she said.

"So, we decided to climb on a bus and spend two days in Wagga instead. We did climb a small hill at Charles Sturt Uni and we did trek to Maccas late at night for dessert but it was clear from that time that this was a connected, mature, respectful and resilient group of students.

"Our 2022 class has been such a delight to be around, to work with and beside. You are all very driven, respectful, responsible, competitive and motivated young adults.

"I'd like to

acknowledge and thank your teachers from Foundation, who wiped your tears and tied your shoelaces, through to your Year 12 teachers, who studied, supported and encouraged you all year.

"All parents should feel a sense of achievement and be very proud not only of your amazing graduates but of yourselves, this is a significant milestone. We made it to the top of this mountain!"

The official School Presentation will be held on Thursday 15th December from 1pm-3pm at the Corryong Memorial Hall.

Delivering on my promise to you

The National Anti-Corruption Commission has been passed by Parliament!

The Government's Bill was largely based on the Bill I introduced in the last Parliament, with independence, a broad definition of corruption and appropriate powers. The NACC will be operational by the middle of next year.

You, the people of Indi, encouraged me to fight for this vital reform. This is your victory.

I am proud to say this promise has been delivered. You can count on me, as your Independent representative to continue the fight to improve the standard of politics in Canberra.

Continued from page 9:- The amateur boxing tournament held on Wednesday evening under the direction of the Corryong District Progress Association Amateur Boxing proved an outstanding success and fighters were present from Albury, Tumbarumba and Granya and surrounding districts.

Following the National Anthem and in the absence of Cr E. Coysh, Shire President, Mr T W Mitchell officially declared the tournament open and in his opening remarks said that the Progress Association felt that the key to the future lay in the youth of the district.

Speaking of the attributes and courage and endurance in which boxing displayed, Mr Mitchell said it says a lot for a chap to be a loser, suffer physical violence and still shake hands to be friends afterwards.

Mr Colley, referee from Albury, said it was a privilege to come to Corryong to act as referee and offered his sincere congratulations for the boxing and stated that the ring was the best he had seen in any country town and compared favourably with city rings. (*)

He explained that it was an amateur contest and he would stop any contest where a boy was outmatched or getting hurt.

Each contest was of three rounds.

Results:-

College students work out under the guidance of Carissa Evans.

Bryan Crowford 7.7 v. Col Harris 8.0. Both contestants fell from the ring and the contest was declared a draw.

Ron Hoban 9.9 defeated Fred Larsen 9.10.

Bob Miller 8.8 defeated Ron Rosseau 8.10.

Draw between Alex Macguire 9.12 and Allan Boyle 9.5.

Len Lebner 10.7 defeated John Woolcock 11.2.

Elliot Paton 12.3 defeated Jim Seid 12.0.

R. Wildsmith (Tumbarumba) 12.0 was declared winner after the seconds for Stan McFarlane (Granya) had thrown in the towel.

Robt. Larsen 10.3 defeated Bill Looker 9.6.

Draw between Johnny Pierce 12.2 and Ray Goldspink (Tumbarumba) 11.5.

Draw between P a t Chitty 10.3 and Dick Chitty 10.3.

Ron Horsely 11.10 defeated Kevin Wind 10.13.

A no decision bout was given by Bill Eames 9.6 and Pat Kellaghan 9.1, both of Albury.

An exhibition 3 rounds was given by two Albury chaps Frank Eames 9.7 and Jack Loney 9.7.

Mr Geo. Hutton presented to the winners of each bout a silver cup which will be engraved in the near future and at the same time thanked all who had assisted in any way.

* Footnote:- The Corryong Boxing Club is seeking any information on the whereabouts of the boxing ring that was used for the contests. If you can help contact Stuart Spratt on 02 6076 1458.

Youth embrace boxing benefits

A bushfire recovery grant used to develop a boxing program for local young people has been more successful than the organisers could have envisaged.

Stuart Spratt and Rotary Club of Corryong member, Matthew Spurgeon, identified that there was a gap to be filled to cater for young boys who were no longer eligible to play junior football once they were too old for the Under 14 competition, as the next step up was to reserves level.

Stuart canvassed ideas for alternative youth activities to fill that void through his 'Soldier On' connections and the Corryong Boxing Group was born.

The Rotary Club of Corryong auspiced the project and thanks to a generous community grant of $44,832 from Border Trust the program is in full swing.

The old squash courts, located in the former gym building in Jardine Street, have been fitted out with equipment and boxing classes are being held twice a week, catering for both boys and girls, under experienced instructor Matt Targett and adult volunteers.

Classes are held on Tuesdays and Thursdays with sessions for under 18s from 4pm to 5pm and over 18s from 5pm to 6pm.

Corryong College also conducted a recent five-week boxing program for year 9 and 10 students at the local health and fitness centre.

Two 45-minute sessions were held each Thursday under the tutelage of Carissa Evans from Alpine Fitness Co., based in Khancoban.

Carissa also provides personal training programs as well as fitness classes - for more information phone her on 0430 511 647.

Boxing surge revives memories

The interest being shown in the newly formed Corryong Boxing Club has brought back recollections for many locals of the popularity of the sport in the 1960s.

Regular nights of boxing were held in the Corryong & District

Memorial Hall with many locals happy to don the gloves.

The following excerpts were taken from the Corryong Courier report on the first event and some familiar names appear among the contestants:-

Program finishes on a high note

The final session of Get Into Golf for Women at Welaregang was held on Sunday.

This program, offered by Golf NSW, has been popular and well supported, with participants showing great promise. For the final session Penny Graeber focused on the short game and as always, her instruction was excellent and her students showed marked improvement in their chipping and putting skills.

At the close of the session participants enjoyed a sausage sizzle and certificates of completion were presented.

The Welaregang Golf Club hopes to have more women members playing on a regular basis as a result of the Get Into Golf program. An informal ambrose event is planned in the new year before the official start of the season.

Meanwhile, golf continues at Welaregang with a nine-at-nine event on Saturday mornings. Everyone is welcome.

In other golf news, the Hills Zone pennant competition resumes this Sunday when Khancoban hosts round 2 which was re-scheduled from November 27th.

Corryong
It was a full weekend of golf at the Corryong course with the commencement of the Men's Championships on Saturday and the Mixed Championships being held on Sunday.

After round 1 of the men's competition club captain, Pat Kamba, leads multiple winner, Graham Pfeiffer, by four shots followed by Richard Bennetts and John Whitsed. The second round will be held on Saturday December 10 and the final round on Saturday November 17 - 8.30am for 9am hit off. The best two of three rounds count.

The winners of the Mixed Championships were Richard Bennetts and Cheryl Smedley.

Business Bowls is going well on Thursday evenings and Barefoot Bowls started on Friday - come along to that, it's fun!

The Christmas breakup will be held on Sunday December 18th. We will be having a couple of games of bowls in the afternoon, commencing at 1pm. If you want to play please put your name in by 12.30pm.

After bowls there will be a drinks break and time to chatter, before a BBQ tea. To avoid a late night we will have the food ready early. Don't forget to bring a salad and/or sweet, to share. If you are coming just for the BBQ it's recommended that you arrive at about 5pm. All members and their families are invited, including Business Bowlers and croquet players - just let us know or put your name on the noticeboard list, especially for the caterer. Kids are welcome too, plenty of room to play on the top green.

After dinner we will be drawing our Christmas raffles.
