Road closure riles residents

Landholders on Towong Hill Road are up in arms over the closure of the Towong Bridge while a new structure is being constructed, claiming that they were ignored in the planning process and that they are incurring extra costs because of unnecessary detours.

One of the most vocal protestors has been Towong Hill Road resident, Mark Auchinleck, who said that in the initial Transport for NSW briefing for locals in March 2022 it was never mentioned that the road would be closed.

Once it was evident that it would be shut for the duration of the demolition and new construction phases, landholders requested that the allocated pedestrian and cyclist passage be widened by about two metres to allow them tractor and ATV access.

A Transport for NSW spokesperson said that Towong Hill Road was closed due to the set-up of the site compound on the Victorian side of the Murray River for the construction of the new Towong Bridge.

"Work on the new bridge is being carried out from both the Victorian and NSW sides of the river," they said, "and site compounds have been set up either side of the river for the duration of the bridge construction.

"The size of each compound space has carefully been considered to ensure the safety of workers and the community.

"Transport for NSW and the contractor, Nelmac Pty Ltd, have ensured the size of the site compound has been kept to a minimum. There is no opportunity to reduce the size of the compound while being suitable for the large equipment with heavy loads that will be operating in this space.

"While Towong Hill Road is closed, alternative routes are available via the local road network."

Transport for NSW says the Towong Bridge site compounds cannot be reduced to allow machinery access for Towong Hill landholders.

Bridge detours cause cost increases

Mr Auchinleck said that it had been frustrating that the road remain closed even when work was not being carried out at the site. "Equally annoying and frustrating is why the road has to remain closed after hours, at weekends, for public holidays and when bad weather prevents work," he said.

"Even when work is occurring, what difference is there between pedestrians and cyclists passing the site and our tractors or ATVs doing the same thing - more rapidly than someone on foot - and only causing a few seconds interruption two or three times weekly?"

"In September landholders will need to start spraying weeds on various properties, silage harvest happens in October and in November fire season starts. If the road remains closed we will be left with only one way in and out.

"Using cross country tracks in winter is not an option as they are unsafe when wet and in winter. That apart, one lane should be kept open for emergency vehicles.

"The suggestion that emergency vehicles can simply move the barrier and drive through is not acceptable to local CFA, SES or health service personnel that I have contacted."

Mr Auchinleck also said that landholders should be recompensed for the additional costs they incur by having to use the detours.

"This cost could more easily be borne if the construction phase was not so long but right now it is grossly unfair," he said.

"Transport for NSW should have properly engaged in the planning phase with those in the community most likely to be adversely affected and financially disadvantaged and made suitable provision. A few thousand dollars on top of a $10 million contract is little more than rounding."

Mr Auchinlek added

that he had also contacted the Towong and Snowy Valleys Councils and members of Parliament on both sides of the Murray River to see what could be done about improving access and compensating landholders.

The Transport for NSW spokesperson said that it is committed to completing the new bridge as quickly as possible, with a target completion date of mid-2023.

"We understand the work comes with some inconvenience and appreciate the community's understanding while work is carried out," they said.

"The site compounds have been set up to cater for the entirety of the work and are unable to be removed or amended intermittently due to safety and efficiency considerations."

Decision on mayor's allowance held over

At its July meeting, Snowy Valleys Council (SVC) deferred a report on setting a new mayoral allowance to its August meeting to allow for further information to be provided.

The decision followed a robust discussion about potential impacts of a fee increase on council finances and the process to be followed to meet the requirements of the Code of Meeting Practice.

Council had met in Tumut and while it was open to members of the public, due to technical difficulties it was not livestreamed as intended.

Interim General Manager, Hamish McNulty, said despite best efforts the meeting was recorded without audio.

"Staff tried a couple of different approaches to fix the problems but unfortunately while there is a video recording of the meeting, we were unable to repair the audio issues," he said.

Following the close of the meeting Mayor Ian Chaffey and Deputy Mayor Trina Thomson recorded a short summary of proceedings where they discussed some of the decisions made.

FOCUS PARTNERS - OUR FOCUS IS YOUR FUTURE

Retiring retailer saw a raft of changes

When she started as a young sales assistant in Wagga, Robyn Stockwell recalled that most goods were wrapped in paper as there were no such things as plastic bags, which were introduced in supermarkets in the 1980s.

"It's all come full circle," Robyn mused recently. "Now they're getting rid of plastic bags!"

After 60 years in the retail sector Robyn is retiring and closing her business Corryong Footwear.

She has seen a multitude of changes in those six decades particularly the growth of large department stores and increasing popularity of online shopping.

"I have decided to close the shop as I didn't want to sell it to someone only to see them go broke," Robyn said.

"Nowadays people mainly want athletic style shoes and the big brands don't want to supply small businesses like mine because it doesn't fit their image.

"The big sports stores like Rebel can offer a wider variety of footwear and it's easier for people to travel to the larger shopping centres like Albury Wodonga than it was in the past."

Robyn began her retail career as a 13-year-old working for Cummins General Store in Wagga after school and on weekends.

"They sold almost everything except clothing," she said.

"I remember that a loaf of bread cost one and halfpence and we would wrap it in greasproof paper for the customer."

Robyn (below) became a permanent employee with Cummins when she was 15 years of age, earning £2 10/- (about $5) for a 5½ day week.

She then moved to Corryong in 1966 to begin work as a domestic staffer at the Corryong Hospital.

The following year she married Colin Stockwell, who she had met in Wagga through a family connection.

The couple then relocated to Bacchus Marsh for a year where Robyn moved back into retail employment.

Upon their return to Corryong, they had two children - Paul in 1969 and Kim in 1972.

In 1977 she began work for Jack and Lena Cross at Jakaleens Hardware where she was employed for nine years before purchasing the shoe section from them - which was located in what is now the BankWAW building - and so started Corryong Footwear.

The business subsequently moved into a right-side space in Bacash's Emporium in 2002 before relocating to its current site in 2007.

Robyn has taken much pleasure in 'shoeing' the people of the Upper Murray community and noted that she had served up to five generations of several families in the district from great great grandmothers down to one-year-olds.

She also felt a responsibility to the community's wellbeing and served in various roles with local community groups.

She has held the position of treasurer with the junior basketball association, Corryong Football Club Ladies Auxiliary and Corryong Chamber of Commerce.

Robyn has been a keen advocate for her adopted town and initiated Santa's visit each year as well as the Christmas street lights and trees and late night shopping and the Easter Bunny's annual appearance.

She also help maintain the original gardens in the median strip established by the Lions Club.

She is also a volunteer at the Visitor Information Centre in Corryong.

Corryong Footwear also became a regular meeting place for Robyn's cohorts where the 'local affairs of state' were discussed.

"I will miss my customers and the regular visitors who returned to town and those people who just dropped in for a chat but the time has come to retire and go travelling."

Council aims for financial sustainability

The summary video was posted to council's facebook page on the evening following the meeting and can also be viewed on SVC's YouTube channel.

The meeting began with a notice of motion from Cr Hughes regarding ongoing management of the Batlow Caravan Park, and councillors agreed to retain the current operating model for now while an overall Snowy Valleys Caravan Park Strategy and Business model is scoped.

Other matters from the meeting included:-

- Presentation of the annual 2021/22 SVC Sustainability Plan report including the progress and status of 35 actions, with councillors making a commitment to support ongoing efforts to achieve financial sustainability.

- Approval was granted to rename the western end of Mitchell Avenue in Khancoban to Clews Road after Major Hugh Powell Gough Clews.

- In principle non-financial support was given to the Tumut Lion's Club reservoir artwork project with council asking staff to prepare a further report reviewing and assessing various artwork treatment options and the financial implications for construction and any ongoing maintenance.

- The 2021 Drinking Water Management System Annual Report was endorsed for submission to NSW Health.

- The feasibility of subdividing McMeekin Street Tumarumba - Lot 1 DP 1148834 - as opposed to selling as a single lot, is to be investigated.

- Activities held in celebration of the 2022 NAIDOC week were noted and council agreed to engage with the Aboriginal Liaison Committee on further possible events for the coming years.

Business documents and minutes can be viewed on council's website at www.svc.nsw.gov.au/21-July-2022.

The next ordinary meeting of council will be held on Thursday August 18, 2022, starting at 2pm.

The agenda and business papers will be available on council's website or by contacting the customer service team one week before the meeting date.

Street to be named after early surveyor

The western end of Mitchell Avenue in Khancoban will be renamed Clews Road after Major Hugh Powel Gough Clews, following community feedback.

Snowy Valleys Council (SVC) mayor, Cr Ian Chaffey said "Major Clews spent a significant amount of time carrying out surveying work around Khancoban prior to the commencement of the Snowy Hydro Scheme back in the 1950s, so I think the community is certainly happy about the fact that his contribution has been acknowledged by naming the road after him," he said.

The portion to be renamed Clews Road is the western end of Mitchell Avenue from Scott Street to the intersection of Douglas Street and Chisholm Street.

The renaming seeks to rectify addressing issues for a small number of properties on Mitchell Avenue which is impacting on the ability of emergency responders, utility providers and delivery services to provide timely service.

Following an original proposal to rename the road Wallaby Avenue, council reached out to the local community for feedback.

A Khancoban 'pop-up' was held in early June to provide opportunity for locals to discuss the road naming proposal and to provide other suggested name possibilities.

Community feedback indicated a preference for Clews Road or Lady Hudson Road and council selected the former as it already had Geographic Naming Board approval.

Major Clews was a Senior Surveyor for the Snowy Mountains Authority and was in charge of mapping the Snowy Mountains from 1950 to 1958.

Council staff will now serve notice of the road name to Australia Post, the Registrar General, the Surveyor General, and formally have the name gazetted.

Major Clews surveyed much of the Snowy Mountains throughout the 1950s.

Johnny Murray will provide an Aboriginal voice on water management.

New appointment will bring about change

North East Water is proud to announce the appointment of Duduroa and Yorta Yorta man Johnny Murray as an independent Aboriginal delegate of the corporation's board of directors.

Mr Murray has been appointed for a 12-month period and is the organisation's second Aboriginal delegate engaged since 2019.

Chair, Cath Botta, said Mr Murray has extensive experience working with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities across the country.

"Johnny will be able to provide insight into matters relating to urban water management and its connection to traditional owners," she said.

"It's also an opportunity for him to consider a future full directorship within the water sector. Not only does the delegate role provide greater perspectives in the corporation's strategic discussions, it also continues to strengthen our relationships with Aboriginal communities.

"North East Water is on a reconciliation journey and we're excited to be taking these steps towards an inclusive and just country.

"I am extremely excited that Johnny is joining our team and I'm looking forward to his first board meeting."

Mr Murray added "I am a proud Aboriginal man and have a great understanding of Aboriginal cultural protocols across north-east Victoria, southern New South Wales and Queensland.

"I believe Aboriginal people and communities should have a say in all matters that affect them and this position will provide a great opportunity for an Aboriginal voice at North East Water.

"I am committed to bringing about positive change whilst working together towards improving outcomes for Aboriginal people and North East Water as a collective."

Residents urged to take up power bonus

More Victorians can receive immediate bill relief and cut their energy costs thanks to the government's $250 Power Saving Bonus, which has already been taken up by one million households.

Last week Minister for Energy, Lily D'Ambrosio, announced a $205 million boost to the popular program, where every Victorian household can receive $250 to seek out a better energy deal on Victoria's Energy Compare website.

All Victorian households are eligible for the payment, including the nearly 400,000 concession card holders who previously claimed the payment under an earlier phase of the program.

"We know Victorian families are doing it tough, so we're topping up the $250 Power Saving Bonus program to make sure no one misses out," Ms D'Ambrosio said.

The $250 Power Saving Bonus is available until 30 June 2023 and there are no caps on the number of households that can receive the once-off payment. User data shows that over the past 12 months, seven out of every 10 users saved an average of $330 by switching energy offers. Households can claim the $250 payment by heading to the Victorian Energy Compare website and comparing energy offers to see if they can get a better deal or by engaging with a participating community outreach partner.

The Victorian Energy Compare website is the only free and independent online energy price comparison service available to the state's energy consumers. Other programs helping households and businesses to slash energy bills include Victorian Energy Upgrades, which provide upfront incentives for low-cost-to-free energy efficient products and Solar Victoria, which offers households and businesses discounted solar panels, batteries and efficient heating and cooling. To apply and for more information go to compare.energy.vic.gov.au.

Increased bushfires put pressure on timber supply.

Forest management needs to ramp up

An independent review of the Victorian Regional Forest Agreement regions after the devastating 2019-20 bushfires has backed industry calls for active management across all land tenures.

The Commonwealth and Victorian governments agreed to undertake a Major Event Review to assess the impacts of the fires and identify future action.

Deb Kerr, CEO of the Victorian Forest Products Association (VFPA), said the report - overseen by an independent panel and informed by science, traditional owner knowledge and public consultation - highlights the need for active and adaptive forest management.

The report recommends the governments "further investigate the mechanical thinning of dense regrowth forests as a strategy to restore forest landscapes to a more open forest structure in order to enhance the resilience of forests to more frequent occurrence of severe bushfires."

Several recent peer-reviewed scientific studies that have shown forest thinning - as practised in Victoria's sustainably managed timber production forests - significantly reduces bushfire severity.

Other key findings of the report, which includes 37 recommendations for improvements on how to manage Victorian forests included:-

- Mechanical thinning of regrowth forests

- Active forest management and forest resilience to repeated high-intensity bushfires

- Outcomes for traditional owners through empowered active involvement in forest management

- Research, data, and information on Regional Forest Agreement (RFA) values and bushfire impacts

- Preparation for future Major Event Reviews.

Ms Kerr said Victoria's forest industries were already doing their part to improve conservation outcomes following major bushfires.

"This report is part of a broader discussion about the loss of biodiversity due to major bushfires," she explained.

"Forestry already responds to these risks, for example through a dedicated Greater Glider Conservation Strategy put in place by VicForests in 2019 as well as additional protection of endangered species. This approach is consistent with the conservation advice for recently upgraded EPBC Act listing of the species.

"At the same time, increased bushfires put additional pressure on timber supply. The report finds that Victoria's privately-owned softwood and hardwood plantations were also significantly impacted by the 2019-20 bushfires, with a total of 8,354 hectares worth an estimated $75 million destroyed.

"The increasing impact of bushfires on plantations presents an escalating threat to wood-processing industries in Victoria.

"We have some of the most sustainable forestry practices in the world - and this report underlines the need for active forest management rather than a 'lock up and leave' approach that some demand," Ms Kerr said.

Australian Forest Products Association (AFPA) CEO, Ross Hampton, said the report echoed the findings of the Commonwealth's State of the Environment report card released last week.

"These reports confirm that we need a rethink about how we manage our vast native forest estate, particularly the tens of millions of hectares that have been set aside for permanent conservation yet are failing to stem the decline of our native species," Mr Hampton said.

"It is clear that the tiny fraction of area harvested each year for timber production and regenerated by law is not the culprit. Australia's sustainable forestry operations are regulated to the highest standards in the world for forest management and its our forestry workers who are on the frontline fighting bushfires saving lives and homes."

AFPA released a report after the Black Summer bushfires calling for a national mechanical fuel reduction program, Using Fire and Machines to Better fireproof Our Country Towns.

at Corryong in April.

The 'Boney Doom' course was designed to be challenging and physically demanding comprising logs, rocks, hills, water, mud and various obstacles.

Footy foes unite for cancer fight

The Corryong and Federal football netball clubs will kick goals both on and off the field during a special charity round for the Albury Wodonga Regional Cancer Centre Trust Fund this Saturday.

Senior football and netball players will wear specially coloured socks as part of Terry Socks it to Cancer, inspired by former Ovens and Murray star, Terry Greaves, who is receiving treatment for metastatic melanoma.

Corryong, as the home team, will wear pink while Federal will be in yellow, which reflect the colours of the Albury Wodonga Regional Cancer Centre Trust Fund.

Juniors will be encouraged to wear "crazy" socks and make a donation.

Upper Murray Football Netball League operations manager, Nadia Edwards, said the league was proud to get behind Mr Greaves and the campaign to raise money and awareness for the cancer centre.

"We encourage everyone to dig deep and support a cause which no doubt, has touched the lives of many our players, supporters and volunteers," she said.

"The cancer centre is such an important facility for our region and we look forward to bringing attention to this great local cause through the brightly coloured socks."

Donations will also be collected from supporters at the gates.

Mr Greaves, of

Markwood, was first diagnosed with cancer 15 years ago and experienced the challenges of having to travel long distances to receive treatment in Melbourne.

In 2020, his cancer returned and he has since received monthly treatment in Albury.

Mr Greaves said he was passionate about raising money for the cancer centre because it is so important for people in the region to have access to treatment and facilities locally.

"I've experienced it first hand after having to travel to Melbourne every three months for five years," he said.

"It is so much more convenient and stress-free being able to travel to Albury, which is just a two-hour return trip, compared to Melbourne which is six hours."

Terry Socks it to Cancer has been organised by Mr Greaves, in partnership with AFL North East Border.

All money raised stays helps fund new equipment, staff training and development, research and wellness programs at the Albury Wodonga Regional Cancer Centre.

Kelsey-Lee Barber has joined elite company after winning the javelin event at the World Championships.

Champ goes back to back

Australian javelin thrower, Kelsey-Lee Barber, has emulated runner Cathy Freeman as the only Australians to defend their World Athletic Championship titles.

Barber enhanced her reputation as a big game performer by posting a huge 66.91m throw in the third round to secure her victory in Eugene, Oregon on Saturday.

The win comes on the back of her bronze medal at the Tokyo Olympics in 2021.

Barber arrived in Australia from South Africa during the Sydney Olympics in 2000 and lived in Corryong where her uncle and aunt, Henry and Gail Spink, owned a dairy farm.

She competed in the discus for Corryong College up to regional level before moving to Canberra in 2007, where she switched to the javelin and started training with a coach.

TEE TO GREEN

Special mention that the annual Spring Tournament - 4BBB will be held on Wednesday 14th September. More details will follow.

Welaregang

After a wash out of the Captain's Trophy the previous Sunday, the previous Sunday, round 3 of the Monthly Medal stroke and putting competition attracted six starters last Sunday.

In one of his rare appearances this season, Phil Cribb was in rare form, carding an 88 off the stick (75 nett) to easily win the day and book his place in the final of this competition later in the year. The runner-up, Tony Jarvis, continued his consistent season with a 78 nett. The putting 'guru', Bill Bond, again won that prize with 24.

This Sunday players will compete for the Captain's Trophy in a Par event with the captain expecting a big turnout of members, with visitors also welcome.

Visitor Information Centre Summit

Help showcase our region!

We're excited to showcase the tourism and business products our region has to offer as hosts of the 2022 High Country Visitor Information Centre (VIC) Summit.

Front line staff and volunteers from across the Victorian High Country region and neighbouring New South Wales visitor information centres will gather at the Corryong Visitor Information Centre in October for the annual summit.

Programmed activities across the two-day event will include familiarisation tours running across the region and lunch to follow with guest speakers, prizes and more.

We're reaching out to encourage business operators across the Shire to contribute in any way to the success of this event by showcasing what our region has to offer.

If you're a tourism business and would like to express your interest in promoting our region contact Lizzie Star at the Corryong Visitor Information Centre on 02 6076 2277 or vic@towong.com.gov.au.

Around the football/netball clubs

Swans Nest

Football

Reserves:- It was a bit of a battle with limited numbers but everyone gave their all and played the game out to the end so well done.

Awards: $30 - Malte Thieme; FFNC Stubby holder and cash award - Beau Butters; FFNC Polo - Jaye Gericke; FFNC Merchandise - Dylan Seglow.

Seniors:- It was a great game which we played it out to the finish. Daniel Hales was our best this week with Cameron Sheather and Ashley Greenhill playing good games as well. In defence, Harry Pole rucked tirelessly all day for another super game.

Awards: $50 - Daniel Hales; UM Refrigeration Mug - Cameron Sheather; FFNC Stubby Holder & cash award - Ashley Greenhill; FFNC hat - Harry Pole.

Lachie Hampton escapes the clutches of Sam Harrison.

Cudgewa's Luke Bloom vies with Peter Whitty for the Sherrin.

Blues News

Football

Seniors:- We had to fight hard all day to get the win but Darcy McKimmie and Jack Ross gave us plenty of drive out of the back line.

Yarrod Hamilton and Nick Brockley gave us options up forward and the debutants were absolutely fantastic attacking the footy hard while Kyle Jarvis was super at half forward, grabbing most opportunities that come his way.

Best: Jack Ross, Darcy McKimmie, Nick Brockley, Kyle Jarvis, Yarrod Hamilton.

Reserves: We had another good win with the aged but agile Brendan McEvoy setting up the win with eight goals in the first half. Jayden Pryse gave us the advantage from the ruck where John Cossor and Aaron Lezius sent the ball into the forward line all day.

Best: John Cossor, Aaron Lezius, Jayden Pryse, Brendan McEvoy.

U11s: It was a great win by the team in our 'grand final'. It is no secret that Feds are well coached by Sam and Neville. Both teams played awesome football with our crew coming out on top. Everyone played at their best. It was impossible to pick out best players. The team learned one of footballs biggest lessons "a champion team will always beat a team of champions."

Netball

C Grade:- After a couple of rough weeks of sickness mixed with bye rounds the girls found a way to bounce back. Teamwork won the game for us on the day, being able to support each other to play our best against a really tough side.

Our shooters were on fire even with a tough defence from Federals. Eden Cook and Chloe Trompf stopped some crucial passes into the Feds' goal ring and seamlessly moved the ball back to our end score from turnovers.

Awards: Brooke Tregilgas, Eden Cook and Zoe McKimmie.

D Grade: We came away with a good win and the girls played together very nicely, supporting one another and showing strong discipline down the court. Chloe Land took out the players' player award which was so well deserved. Chloe, Jasmine Cane and Lalita Linklater put so much pressure on in defence, forcing turnovers giving the attack end lots of opportunities to convert, which they did nicely.

U15s:- We played a strong match against an undefeated Federals side.

They were beaten by only eight goals which was a great effort against a very disciplined opponent. Everyone worked really hard to keep in the game and the girls were really united throughout the match.

U11s: We played a wonderful game against Federals and worked hard for the entire game, listening to all advice given by the coaches and trying their best to put into play new skills. They worked well as a team and didn't drop their heads once.

Awards: Logan Nagy and Charlotte Klippel.

Demons Den

Netball

U15s:- What a cracker of a game with only one or two goals separating the teams at each break. Our defensive pressure was fantastic giving our team scoring opportunities but Tumba's defence was also amazing so our girls had to work extra hard to get the scores on the board. Well down to our girls for working really hard all game and never giving up.

Awards: Hobie's Sport Store - Lauren Zimmer, Sportspower Albury - Abby Connor, Regent Cinema Albury - Bridget Bailey.

Favourites follow the script

The two matches went as expected in local football on the weekend but Tumberumba's mammoth score against a 14-man Corryong team came out of the blue. The main destroyer was Roos' spearhead

Daniel Hitchens who booted 13 goals on his return to the side after several weeks absence. The Demons held their own in the first quarter thanks to the Roos' poor kicking on goal but the rout started in the second term when Tumba warmed up with seven goals and then put the pedal to the metal after the long break to slam on eighteen majors to the Dees' three.

Mitch Palmer, Connor Clayton and Jake Read ran riot in the huge win while Corryong was best served by Dylan Nowak and Pat Riley who are likely to fight out the Demons' best and fairest award.

With at least eight regulars sidelined, Cudgewa still posted a comfortable victory over a wayward Federal, with Nick Brockley kicking five goals to retain his position at the top of the Corryong Courier goalkicking award.

The Blues started well with six goals in the first stanza but the Swans lifted in term two and should have been closer at the half except for inaccuracy in attack.

However, with Jack Ross, Darcy McKimmie and Brockley winning out in most contests Cudgewa did enough to edge away to 50-point victory.

Fed's big men Ash Greenhill and Harry Pole were competitive in the air and Dan Hales and Lachie Hampton benefited when the ball hit the deck but the Swans were outmanoeuvred around the ground to run out of petrol tickets in the last quarter.

This week - R13
 It's not often that a clash between the two bottom placed teams would qualify as match of the round but that is the case this Saturday when Corryong and Federal meet in the local derby with a finals berth at stake.

The record between the two this season is one win apiece - against each other - but the Swans are favoured to take the honours, purely on the basis that they will have a full complement of players as opposed to the Demons who have struggled to field a full team in recent weeks.

Meanwhile, Bullioh will host Tumberumba in a probable preview of the second semi final and will be keen to see how they stack up against the ladder leaders but the Roos are flying at the moment and if their attack includes both sharpshooters in Daniel Hitchens and Tyler Lampe, the Dogs will be in for a tough day.
