Expo strikes a chord

A record number of 25 exhibitors showcased the resources that are available to communities before, during and after an emergency at the North East Emergency Expo in Corryong on Saturday.

More than 400 people visited the expo at the Corryong Recreation Reserve which was organised by the North East Emergency Action Group Inc. (NEEAG).

"We have had nothing but positive feedback from the community about the expo, both on social media and direct contact," said president, Carina Newton.

"One of our members said that a lady came up to him saying it was all still very raw but she still appreciated what we were doing for their community and gave him a hug.

"Everyone enjoyed the day and we are very honored that we came to their community and

The Victorian and NSW Police displays were popular with young expo goers cannot wait until the next event, with many participating groups wanting to stay involved." Ms Newton said that the live fire show by the local CFA Cluster group was a big hit and "the kids running underneath the Rural Fire Service's huge hose on the front of the vehicle also looked fun!"

They also enjoyed making badges including one of Corryong sergeant Brendan Lampkin that read 'Good Cop'.

Importantly, the expo raises vital funds for the local community to be used for emergency related projects and/or services.

Around $1,000 was raised for two local projects which are new emergency signage for recovery centres and extra storage space at the new FoodShare building for emergency situations..

Pupils from five regional schools also participated in a colouring competition - Sacred Heart Corryong, Mitta Mitta, Talgarno, Walwa and Khancoban.

Winners

Foundation - Paige from Sacred Heart; Grade One - Matilda from Mitta Mitta; Grade Two - Claire from Sacred Heart; Grade Three - Kayde from Sacred Heart; Grade Four - Clara from Khancoban; Grade Five - Evie from Mitta Mitta; Grade Six - Marley from Khancoban.

Rally returns after setbacks

The Corryong Historic Machinery Club is welcoming returning participants, visitors and locals to its 2023 Rally this weekend; the first event since 2019 following the 'Black Summer' bushfires, the pandemic and a 'big wet'.

Running over two days at the Corryong Recreation Reserve, the rally includes a wide array of stationary engines, vintage and classic tractors, cars, trucks, motorcycles, market stalls and more.

Enthusiasts travel from far and wide to see and talk machinery with the passionate club members, entrants and other aficionados.

Features this year are the David Brown tractor club, Old hay press and sponsors, Case International, which will also have a display.

There will also be strongest man and woman competitions, wood chop and the popular tractor pull.

Visitors to the rally can also get involved by voting for their favourite displays and demonstrations in nine categories and there will be a best overall and Mayor's choice awards.

Refreshments will be available and BBQ meals with desserts are on offer on Friday and Saturday nights. Entry is $10 for adults and under 16s are free. Camping is also available on site.

The rally is expected to draw a large crowd after an absence of three years.

Get ready for a splash of floral colour

Walking and driving around Corryong and surrounds you can see a variety of plants flowering or about ready to harvest and local 'green thumbs' are being encouraged to enter the All Saints Anglican Flower Show next Friday.

You never know, you could be a winner. Even if it is your first time entering this show, you will be guided through the process.

When judging has finished, the community is welcome to come and browse through the array of floral, plant and vegetable displays. Relax and enjoy a scrumptious Devonshire Tea, with home baked scones, jam and cream in the Parish Hall. There will also be floral bouquets and arrangements for sale and a pop-up book stall.

In the church there will be a display of local quilts and crafts to view.

The Flower Show and Quilt and Craft Display will be held on 27th October.

Entries close at 5pm on Thursday October 26th. Entries to Faye Land on 0439 974 380.

In other All Saints news, a Peace Vigil was held at the church last Friday.

"We came together as a community to pray, reflect, and meditate what peace would bring to the Middle East and Ukraine," said Rev Maryann Leonard.

"People of faith and no faith are united in giving 'peace a chance'. The conflict has left devastation on both sides of the conflict."

There will be a second vigil this evening from 7:00-8:00pm at All Saints Anglican Church.

Indi goes with the flow

On Saturday the nation overwhelmingly voted 'No' to recognition in the constitution of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples through the Voice to Parliament referendum and the Indi electorate was no exception.

The national vote stands at 60-40 against the 'Yes' proposal but in all three polling booths in the Upper Murray closer to 70 per cent voted 'No'.

Although disappointed in the outcome, member for Insi, Helen Haines, said she was grateful that we have a democracy that allows every one of us to have our say

"Change is hard and changing our constitution is exceptionally hard," she said.

"I have always believed that two people of good character can have different views and discuss those views in peace. That is how it should be.

"I am grateful that we have a strong and independent Australian Electoral Commission and I thank them for their fine work.

"I sincerely thank First Nations Australians here in Indi who have opened their hearts, shared their stories and views with me, who have spoken at information sessions and so much more.

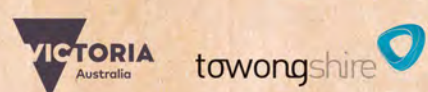

"I also thank the many hundreds of people across our community who volunteered throughout this referendum. I honour the lifetimes of work from indigenous elders and leaders which led to the Uluru Statement from the Heart."

Corryong Heavy Vehicle Bypass

Project Update

Work on the Corryong Heavy Vehicle Bypass along the Stock Route is progressing steadily.

Here's a quick overview of what we've accomplished so far:

- Installed new drainage and culverts along Thomas Lane and Stock Route, extending to the Donaldson Street intersection.
- Added culverts along the remaining portion of Stock Route leading to Briggs Gap Road.
- Pavement construction works.
- Sealed approximately 1km of the road from the Thomas Lane end.

This upgrade to the Stock Route is set to bring significant improvements, including road sealing to accommodate large B-Double trucks and eliminating those tight bends. This will provide a safer alternative route for trucks, addressing safety concerns associated with using the main street.

Stay tuned for more updates as work continues.

We remember our fallen heroes

This is the second in a series of biographies by Stephen Learmonth of servicemen from the region which the Courier will be printing in the lead up to Remembrance Day this year on November 11.

KLEEBERGER Theodore Charles

Theo was born in September of 1893 in Corryong, Victoria. He was one of six children of Charles Julius Robert and Mary Annie (née Craig) Kleeberger. In 1898, Charles was named as the Registrar of Births and Deaths at Cudgewa, Victoria. Unfortunately, when he was only eleven, Charles died of heart failure. That left Mary to raise the six children aged between seventeen and seven.

In 1905 Mary married Charles' younger brother, Theodore and the family moved to Melbourne, living at 75 Dryburgh St in West Melbourne. Theo gained employment as a labourer in the area for a period of time before taking on an apprenticeship as a blacksmith with the Wright Bros., product merchants of North Melbourne.

Two weeks after war had been declared, Theo walked up the steps of the Melbourne Town Hall to enlist. His Regimental Number of 450 indicates how early he joined up. He was placed into B Company of the 6th Battalion. After less than two months of initial training the battalion embarked on HMAT A20 Hororata on the 19th of October, 1914 at the Port of Melbourne. They arrived in Egypt on the 2nd of December and spent the next few months training.

The 6th Battalion landed at Anzac on the 25th of April as part of the second wave. At some stage during the next few days Theo received a gunshot wound to his neck and arm. He was taken off the Peninsula and placed into a hospital ship which took him to Cairo. He was initially admitted to the No. 1 General Hospital on the 29th of April but was sent to No. 2 General Hospital the following day. Theo remained there until he was discharged to duty on the 1st of June 1915.

Two weeks later he rejoined his unit which was in reserve at Gallipoli due to the battalion being 500 men below establishment.

From the 3rd to the 15th of July the battalion occupied the trenches adjacent to the 7th Battalion. It suffered 20 killed and 44 wounded as a result of shelling from large calibre guns. From the remainder of July they were once again placed in reserve.

On the 6th of August the battalion was issued orders to attack at midnight the German Officer's Trench (so named because a German officer was once seen there) and to destroy Sniper's Trench. At 1630 the Anzac artillery dropped a few shells on the German Officers Trench but no damage was done. The Turks replied by damaging the battalion's trenches with fire from their 4.7" and 75mm guns.

Engineers used explosive charges to break through the roofs of the trenches and entry tunnels. The fighting was chaotic. During the battle Theo was wounded in his hands by a bomb blast. He was evacuated from Gallipoli and admitted to the Elmo Valletta hospital in Malta. By this time his wounds had become septic.

He died on the 18th of August 1915. In the group photograph, Theo is standing two places to the right of the soldier with his arm in a sling. He died a day or two after this photograph was taken.

Theo was buried at the Pieta Military Cemetery in Malta. He is also remembered on the Australian War Memorial Roll of Honour, the Cudgewa State School Honour Roll and the Corryong War Memorial.

For his service during the war he was awarded the 1914-15 Star, the British War Medal, and the Victory Medal.

Housing is a big issue facing our region

Almost one in three Australians live outside the major cities yet we do not receive our fair share of housing funding.

I have introduced a Bill to parliament to secure government funding for housing in regional Australia.

My Unlocking Regional Housing Bill proposes sensible measures to ensure we can act on the regional housing and homelessness crisis by building homes where they are needed most.

Demons gear up for another tilt

Corryong Football Netball Club president, Owen Johnston, was re-elected to the position at the Demons' annual general meeting on Monday night.

The meeting was well attended and a full executive and committee was elected.

In his report, Mr Johnstone said that after a great season in 2022, the club was striving for and achieved a bigger and better 2023.

"Full credit goes to our 2023 committee," he said.

"We had the strategic plan to help us go in the right direction and this was a success. One of the big things was to start turning our clubrooms into a sea of red and blue.

"If you look around here tonight you will see honour boards, premiership flags and our bar in our famous colours."

Mr Johnstone said that from early on in the season, he had a great feeling about the year even though there was one less team in the competition.

"It was obvious that everyone was playing in the Upper Murray for the right reason," he said.

"Thinking back at how much further our club has come on the field and court this year, it's amazing to say the least. We put out seven grades of netball every week and even had D Grade play off in the grand final only to fall short in extra time. We also had five grades of football every week with our very talented Under 12s team winning the premiership.

"Thank you to all of our wonderful sponsors and our volunteers who continue stepping up to do duties on game days and whenever else is needed. This club wouldn't still be running without you."

In related news, he added that assurances have been given that there will be a brand new kids playground between the netball courts and the oval for by the end of March 2024.

The following office bearers were elected at the annual meeting:-

- President - Owen Johnston
- Football Vice President - Evan Nicholas
- Netball Vice President - Maree Nicholas
- Secretary - Dara Pilli

We know

BLOAT
Is around the corner!!

Bloat-Liq
AN EFFECTIVE AID IN BLOAT CONTROL

Bloat in ruminants is the distention of the rumen-reticulum, or paunch, with gas. This gas has been formed during rapid fermentation of the feed in the rumen. The distention is usually seen on the left side as a tight ballooning of the underlying rumen from the ribs to the hip. The usual mechanism of "belching" and letting gas out through the animal's mouth has failed and so the gas accumulates. Distention can occur from pasture bloat and feedlot bloat. Olsson's Bloat-Liq is a molasses-based, anti foaming block designed to relieve the symptoms of this annual killer. Bloat-Liq is rain resistant, easy to use, works 24 hours a day and is one of the best value bloat products on the market. Available in 15 & 40kg blocks. Grazemax For Cattle & Sheep. Lush, fast growing pastures and fodder crops often lack the sophisticated nutrient profile required to optimise animal health and performance. When production challenge is high, nutritional imbalances can cause clinical symptoms like Grass Tetany, Milk Fever & Bloat.
